

VMCM Monthly Newsletter

June 2012

Children's day

The first of June is the international children's day and like every year VMCM made a big party for all the kids. We were afraid for the capricious weather, so to be sure about the success of this special day we planned plenty of funny games inside.

- We decided for the popular game "minute to win". The contestants had to successfully complete different games within 60 seconds. They received stamps for every completed game. At the end the contestant with the most stamps have won thrilling competition. More than 35 kids have participated and everyone had a lot of fun. Of course all the participants got some sweets and everyone is already looking forward to the children's day celebration in the next year J.

Summer of 2012 means 3 Youth exchanges!!!

One of the Youth exchanges took place in Hungary. The title was:

I'm a European, I'm a Cosmopolitan

The start of this summer was really intensive. After exams our destination was Hungary, where the youth exchange called I'm a European, I'm a Cosmopolitan took place. The camp was not unfamiliar for us, this was our 3rd exchange there and we had high expectations. Our team was brilliant, the good mood was set so there was nothing in our way to spend an amazing week in the woods. I have to say those 10 days were maybe the best 10 days in my life. The organization was amazing, the people were phenomenal, the workshops were interesting. Participating countries were: Slovakia, Hungary, Ireland and Bulgaria. We did some drawing and acting, of course connected with the theme. It was a really special occasion that this time two exchanges were running at the same time. At the end it became a huge intercultural mess. Lifelong friendships were made and everyone's expectations were fulfilled. I hope I can visit Egervolgye Camp again next year.

Poland: Folcolour your mind Youth Exchange...

Folcolour your mind! The international youth exchange within the Youth in Action program took place in Poronin, small town close to High-Tatra mountain. For 8 days 32 participants from 6 different countries (Poland, Slovakia, France, Bulgaria, Greece and Romania) joined the project. The most relevant part of this project was focused on raising awareness of folklore, culture and ecology. Our 5 participants have arrived home with great experiences. Written by the leader of the group from Slovakia:

"In the name of the Slovak group I can say the exchange was really interesting. It filled almost all our expectations and gives us a little bit more. According to the theme we learned some new things about folcolour, had interesting workshops and conversations what helped us to get to know and understand the mining of others.

I think we all repeated our knowledge and got better in English. We have found new friends and learned about different countries, cultures and nationalities.

This exchange got all the goals what such an even should have."

